

Women's Connection of the Morris Area Club Communications Policy

Purpose:

This policy establishes standards for official and member communications within Women's Connection of the Morris Area.

Appropriate Channels for Communication:

- Official communications to the full membership will be distributed only through the club's designated officers or the Communications Committee chair.
- Members who wish to express concerns, ideas, or feedback are encouraged to communicate them directly to the board, an officer, or the appropriate committee chair for consideration and discussion.

Appropriate Use of Club Communications

Consistent with the requirements for federal tax-exempt status:

- Announcements or other communications made through club channels or during club gatherings may not serve as a listing service or promotional outlet for outside charities, volunteer programs, or other organizations whose missions differ from the club's purpose.
- On an occasional basis, the club may share information about external social events that could be of interest to its members, including events that incidentally benefit charitable organizations.
- Announcements or other communications made through club channels or during club gatherings must remain free of personal solicitation.
- Announcements or other communications made through club channels or during club gatherings must remain free of content promoting political or religious viewpoints.
